RUBEN MAES

Strategic Communication Advisor

Ruben Maes is a moderator and chairman for high-profile expert-meetings, symposia and multi-day conferences. He is involved in a wide range of assignments where public or private organisations have to communicate with politicians, stakeholders and the media. Topics may range from sustainability to education, technology and agriculture, but are always connected to the public sphere. Ruben's style can be characterized as a combination of having an accurate focus on the matter, while at the same time keeping an eye on the atmosphere of the meeting.

After finishing his political science studies, Ruben Maes worked for a research company aiming at strategic advice for campaigns. He also worked on a freelance basis for BNR Nieuwsradio and he was an editor of PM Den Haag. In 2003 Ruben started his own bureau &MAES, specialised in political-strategic advice and the hosting of discussions.
