Capture what safety and health at work means to YOU!

This year the competition has a special focus on risk prevention, challenging entrants throughout the EU27 and beyond to capture their own image of safety and health in the workplace and share their perspective of risk prevention in the workplace. → Read more...

Give it your best shot!

The competition is open to all citizens in the European Union plus the three EEA (Iceland, Lichtenstein and Norway) and Switzerland, and is free to enter.

The deadline for submitting your photographs is 31st August 2011. Click here to enter up to four photos: → Enter your pictures now!

The prizes

The three best photographs will be selected according to their creativity and originality, as well as universal European appeal, with a total prize fund of €7,000 at stake. For budding photographers, this year for the first time there will be a special Youth Prize of €1,000 for participants aged under 21! The winners will be presented with their prizes at a special award ceremony during the EU-OSHA Healthy Workplaces Campaign Closing Event in Bilbao, Spain, in November 2011. The expert jury

To select the winning photos that best present risk prevention in an imaginative and creative way, EU-OSHA has established an expert jury panel. Two OSH communications experts will be joined by a trio of renowned European photographers; picture editor of the Spanish National Geographic Magazine, Merbxe Alarcon, President Elect of the Federation of European Professional Photographers, Jørgen Brandt and award-winning photo journalist, Marco Di Lauro. → Read more about the jury

Awareness for safer and healthier workplaces!

This photo competition is organised by the European Agency for Safety and Health at Work (EU-OSHA), the main EU reference point for occupational safety and health. → Know more about the Agency
